Migrant claims that mullahs would target his 'illicit business'

By COLIN HURST

AN Iranian asylum seeker who smuggles lust bums has won his legal battle to remain in Britain.

The man applied for refugee status in the UK and argued he could not be deported as he would be in danger from Tehran's hardline mullahs - because of his illicit sex toy business.

The case is yet another barmy example of how broken Britain's asylum system has become.

Kneecap 'sorry' for MP threat

RAP gobshites Kneecap have apologised to the families of murdered MPs Sir David Amess and Jo Cox.

The statement posted on Twitter follows the emergence of footage of a concert in November 2023, where one of the band members appears to say: "The only good Tory is a dead Tory. Kill your local MP."

The footage is being assessed by counter-terrorism police and Conservative leader Kemi Badenoch has called for prosecution.

In a statement, Kneecap said they rejected "any suggestion that we would seek to incite violence against any MP or individual."

The trio added: "To the Amess and Cox families, we send our heartfelt apologies."

Labour MP Jo Cox was fatally shot and stabbed in June 2016, and Tory MP Sir David Amess was stabbed to death at a constituency surgery in 2021.

Power back on in Iberia

POWER in Spain and Portugal has been mostly restored after a mass blackout paralysed most of the Iberian Peninsula.

Over 99 per cent of Spain's power is back, the country's electricity operator said, and around 80 per cent of customers in Portugal are reported to have electricity.

Spain has declared a state of emergency in what is believed to be Europe's largest power cut.

The cause of the fault is still being investigated, and the EU has insisted that there were no indications that it was a cyberattack.

As country circles the drain, dim Chancellor targets treats KILLJOY RACH'S WAR ON MILKSHAKES

SWEET-toothed Brits are up in arms over Rachel Reeves' plans to tax MILKSHAKES!

The Chancellor wants to extend the fizzy pop tax to milkshakes and other milk-based beverages.

Reeves announced in her autumn budget last year that the government was considering widening the levy.

Shadow chancellor Mel Stride labelled the move a "sucker punch" to households when Labour had "already pushed up the cost of living for families".

The sugar tax, known formally as the soft drinks industry levy (SDIL), applies to manufacturers and was introduced by the Conservative government in April 2018 as a means to tackle obesity. So far, the measure has had NO effect on obesity.

On Monday, the Treasury also confirmed proposals to reduce the maximum amount of sugar allowed in drinks before they become subject to the levy from 5g to 4g per 100ml.

Some 203 pre-packed milk-based drinks on the market, which make up 93 per cent of sales within the category, will be hit with the tax unless their sugar content is reduced, government analysis says.

The exemption for milk-based drinks was included because of concerns about calcium consumption among children.

But the Treasury said that young people only get 3.5 per cent of their calcium intake from such drinks, meaning "it is also likely that the health benefits do not justify the harms from excess sugar".

"By bringing milk-based drinks into the SDIL, makers of these drinks could build on existing progress and reduce sugar in their recipes," the Treasury said.

No asylum for sexual offenders

NONCE and perv asylum seekers will be denied the right to stay in the UK, the government has announced.

Terrorists, war criminals and any other criminals whose offences carry a sentence of one year or more can already be refused asylum under the Refugee Convention.

Under the changes, this will be extended to anyone convicted in the UK of a crime which places them on the sex offenders register, regardless of the length of their sentence.

Home Secretary Yvette Cooper said this would "ensure these appalling crimes are taken seriously".

The changes will be introduced through an amendment to the Border Security, Asylum and Immigration Bill, which is making its way through Parliament.

It is not clear how many cases the change could affect.

However, the Home Office said the law could prevent cases like that of Abdul Ezedi, who attacked his girlfriend with a corrosive liquid after being granted asylum despite being a convicted sex offender.

Starmer's scared off

SIR Keir Starmer has been accused of cowardice after ruling out a visit to Runcorn ahead of tomorrow's by-election.

Dowling Street said the Prime Minister had no plans to go to Runcorn and Helsby in Cheshire, where voters will elect a new MP after Mike Amesbury, the former Labour MP, was jailed for assault.

On Monday, Sir Keir, who was on a visit in Lancashire, admitted the by-election would be "tough" as it tried to head off a challenge from Reform.

Labour's membership expects the party to lose the seat, according to a Survation poll.

A Tory source said: "Keir Starmer is missing in action but it's no wonder why."

ZERO: Ed Miliband

KEIR Starmer is planning to throw bungling energy secretary Ed Miliband "to the wolves" if Labour perform as poorly as expected in tomorrow's local elections.

Elections will be held for 23 councils and six mayors in England.

Around a third of electors in England are eligible to vote, and more than 1,600 councillors will be elected.

Labour bosses are bracing themselves for a rout as millions give their verdict on Keir Starmer's first year in office.

There are fears the party may lose the previously-safe seat of Runcorn and Helsby where there is a parliamentary by-election called after Labour MP Mike Amesbury twatted a constituent.

Green maniac Miliband – responsible for the acceleration of the hated Net Zero tripe – could be sacrificed within weeks as Starmer attempts to get back on track.

An insider said: "While Ed is popular in the party – he is the most popular minister among activists – he is not liked in the country at all. He is seen as the man behind increasingly stringent Net Zero policies."

"If the elections go as badly as party strategists fear, Ed could be thrown to the wolves to try and take the heat off the PM."

Miliband's position was not helped last week when he appeared on Sky News and denied that putting taxes on domestic fuel increased prices.

And yesterday former PM Tony Blair stuck the knife in, warning policies to tackle global climate change are "failing", demanding a radical reset to win over hearts and minds on the issue.

In what is being interpreted as a dig at Miliband-led policies, Blair warned that there is a widening credibility gap with voters who are "being asked to make financial sacrifices and lifestyle changes when they know that their impact on global emissions is minimal."

Labour fear that Reform's anti-Net Zero stance will help them win in Runcorn and in local elections.

Starmer appeared to write off Runcorn, becoming the first PM since 2007 not to join a crucial by-election campaign.

Data suggest the PM is staying away because he fears defeat – and because his own dismal personal ratings mean he can contribute little to turnaround efforts.

Even Rishi Sunak, whose net approval rating had fallen well into the negatives by the time the Conservatives were defending Selby and Ainsty in 2023 by-election, delivered leaflets for the candidate.

Sir Keir is entering the by-election with the lowest approval ratings on record for any incumbent prime minister's first contest.

He currently has a net approval of 29 percentage points. Tony Blair, on the other hand, faced his first such challenge with a net approval rating of +59 per cent.

Drippy Liberals win election CANADA VOTES WOKE

THE Liberal Party has won the Canadian election – despite subjecting the country to almost 10 years of woke claptrap.

It's a dramatic reversal in fortune for the centre-left party, now led by former Bank of England Governor Mark Carney.

Pierre Poilievre's Conservative Party looked unbeatable amidst general dissatisfaction with the state of the Canadian economy and 10 years of Liberal government under previous leader, Justin Trudeau.

But the Liberals forced Trudeau to resign and picked political outsider Carney as their leader.

He ran hard against what the party characterised as the real threat Donald Trump posed not just to their economy but also to Canada's very sovereignty.

The US president's badgering of America's northern neighbour and taunts about making it the 51st US state since his return to office helped Carney.

Carney has pledged to begin trade negotiations with Trump in an attempt to stave off US tariffs on Canadian products.

KELLY Brook is still on cloud nine after completing the London Marathon – despite suffering nipple chafing during training.

The busty beauty completed the gruelling 26.2-mile course in six hours 42 minutes – running alongside her hubby Jeremy Parisi.

But it wasn't all plain sailing for Kelly, 45.

Before the race, she revealed she'd stocked up on tubs of Vaseline after bleeding during training.

She said: "I have gone through pots of Vaseline and on Sunday I was away. I had a quick 10k to do.

Panicked

"I panicked because I left my Vaseline at home so I went without.

"Nothing prepares you for the chafing! I was bleeding after 10k."

The former model and TV presenter admitted training for the feat was "challenging".

Jeremy "has been like her carer" when it comes to running in recent months, and running with Jeremy can become quite competitive and challenging for her.

She said: "In terms of training and doing things together on a physical level, that is a bit more challenging because he's super competitive and he's very fit and sometimes when he comes out on a run with me, it's like he's my carer!"

Smiles

Later, Kelly shared a pic on Instagram of her with Jeremy heading home from the race, both with big smiles.

The caption read simply: "We did it!"

Fans were quick to show their support.

One wrote: "I wouldn't mind watching her run in slow motion."

Another commented: "Pots of Vaseline, sounds like my kind of gal."

Corpse sex on subway – man held

A MAN has been held on a rape charge after a pery was caught on CCTV performing sex acts on a corpse in the New York subway.

Felix Rojas, 44, was charged with a single count of first-degree rape in connection with the April 9 incident on the R train in Lower Manhattan.

Sources said the investigation started with the discovery of a body on the train at Whitehall Station.

Police immediately reviewed MTA subway cameras and found footage of the sex acts.

Sources added that the suspect performed, or tried to perform, various sex acts on the body, and that he waited until the train car was empty to pursue his attack.

It's believed the assault, which sources say involved pulling the body from the train seat to the floor, took several minutes.

YES, it's yet another detective show but this one is a bit different...

Disillusioned with her job, MI6 spy Sylvia Fox (Emilia Fox) leaves London to head to Italy for her niece's wedding.

But all is not as it seems.

When the groom fails to show up on the wedding day, Sylvia becomes suspicious and goes to look for him – only to find the body of a woman floating in the lake at the bottom of his garden.

Digging deeper, it appears the groom has been living under an assumed identity.

And a connection with a local mob boss leads Sylvia right into the path of danger.

Welcome to Signore Volpe – volpe is Italian for 'fox' – which charts the adventures of Sylvia as she tries to settle down in a new life in picturesque Panicale in Italy.

The show premiered on little-known Acorn TV but now it is being shown again on Freeview's U&Drama channel.

Fat shaming nearly killed me – Danni

FORMER X Factor judge Danni Minogue has said she would "not be alive" today if it were not for her resilience when dealing with "nasty" comments about her appearance.

The Aussie singer and TV presenter, 53, said she was compared to older sister Kylie in the press, and was made to feel FAT.

"The hardest time I had was not long after I arrived in the UK," she told the Happy Place podcast with Fearnie Cotton.

"It was horrendous. I was 19 when I arrived, I'm still a teenager.

"I was compared to my sister, who's got a completely different body shape.

"I wasn't living up to her body, which at the time, the standards of what the only body shape there was, slim.

"I was evolving from a teenager into a woman, on my own, at the other side of the world.

"I'm like, 'I know that if I wasn't mentally strong and I did have any kind of eating disorder, I would not be alive now.'

"That is fact. It was so brutal and it went on for years.

Spy bosses car-azy over Chinese EVs

DEFENCE companies have been warned not to plug phones into Chinese electric cars amid fears Beijing is SPYING on staff via their motors.

British firms working in defence and intelligence fields have instructed their staff not to connect their mobile phones – either via Bluetooth or charging cable – into Chinese-made cars.

Executives at two defence companies said they were concerned about spying by Beijing, which dominates the EV market, and as a result, they were taking a "belt-and-braces" approach.

It comes after the Ministry of Defence banned EVs from being parked on military bases and asked staff to park at least two miles away from select buildings because of concerns that the cars could be used for spying.

A report by the Defence Science and Technology Laboratory (DSTL) found that electric cars posed a potential threat to national security as they were vulnerable to Chinese spying.

It is feared that even those vehicles made in the West with Chinese parts are susceptible.

SEX ARSE SMUGGLER WINS HIS APPEAL TO STAY IN BRITAIN

TOYS BUT NO FUN: Iran doesn't allow sex arses

AN Iranian asylum seeker who argued he could not be deported because he had smuggled SEX ARSES into the hardline Islamist country has won his legal battle to remain in Britain.

The unnamed man applied for refugee status in the UK, saying that he would be in danger from the mullahs because of his illicit sex toy business.

He claimed he smuggled boxes of sex arses and vibrators across the border. Under Islamic law, sex toys are illegal and there is a ban on bringing them into Iran.

The Iranian man's "elaborate" argument was dismissed by a lower-tier immigration tribunal, which said he gave "inconsistent" and "implausible" evidence to support it.

But when his sex arse plea was thrown out, his crafty lawyers changed tack.

He successfully argued at a higher tribunal that he would face persecution if returned to Iran, on the basis of his campaigning against the Tehran regime at protests in London and on Facebook.

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

The upper tribunal backed his asylum claim on the basis that he would face persecution if returned to Iran, which would breach his human rights under the Refugee Convention.

As part of his bid for refugee status, the Iranian, who was granted anonymity, took his case to the first-tier tribunal where he said he had come to the "adverse attention of the Iranian authorities as a smuggler of sex toys."

Protests

But the tribunal did not accept his account, saying he had given "inconsistent evidence about the number of boxes he smuggled".

The first-tier tribunal also poo-pooed his claims that he would face persecution because of his protests against the Tehran regime.

However, the Iranian appealed his case at the Upper Tribunal, which found that the first-tier tribunal made a mistake in its findings about his protests.

The judge found that the Iranian would face "real risk of persecution" and the man won his appeal on refugee convention grounds.

Docs should know the difference

BARMY docs have condemned the Supreme Court ruling that men can not magically turn into women.

Medics at the British Medical Association's (BMA) resident doctors conference in London passed a motion which states that "attempting to impose a rigid binary has no basis in science or medicine".

Motion

The court had declared that the words "woman" and "sex" in the Equality Act refer to a biological woman and biological sex.

But the doctors conference passed a motion which states: "This meeting condemns the Supreme Court ruling defining the term 'woman'.

Critics have expressed concerns that doctors do not know the difference between men and women.

Amy 'up for' Jezza pub gig

FARMER and telly star Jeremy Clarkson has invited Scottish singer Amy Macdonald to perform in his pub.

Clarkson, 65, who recently bought The Farmer's Dog pub in Oxfordshire, invited Amy, 37, to knock out tunes in the bar.

Clarkson wrote on social media: "@Amy_Macdonald... when you tire of playing in shopping centres, would you like to sing at our pub? I'd love that."

Amy recently thrilled fans with a surprise gig at the Princes Square shopping centre in Glasgow.

Replying to Jezza's invite, Amy wrote: "I'm Scottish - we never turn down an invite to the pub!"

And fans were also enthusiastic about the idea, with one posting: "She's an incredible singer and woman," while another said, "My fav singer! Every song a banger."

Another joked that Amy should do a duet with Clarkson's "head of security" Gerald, who is famous for his strong dialect.

Last week, Amy took to the shopping centre stage and asked the crowd: "Who's all taken the day off sick then?"

"I remember going to see Travis do something like this, and my mate pulled a sickie - but ended up on the news, which was awkward!"

Brit troops' IDs posted by mistake

THE identities of some of Britain's most elite soldiers - including the son of a senior politician - were accidentally made available online by two publications linked to the armed forces.

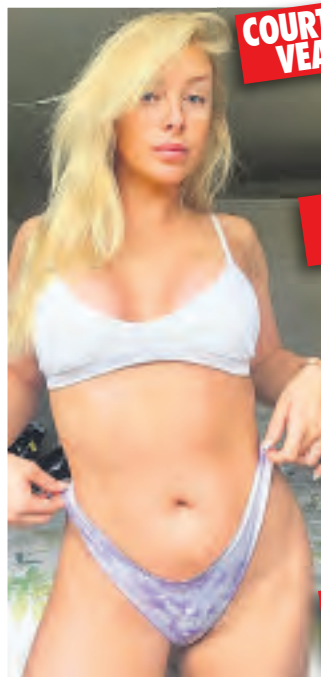

The 20 servicemen named included elite members of the SAS.

In total, 13 soldiers with links to the special forces were identified in the documents, which were intended only for the eyes of military personnel but ended up online with zero password protection.

The most recent example occurred in the last few months - suggesting some of the soldiers may even have been in action at the time their names were shared.

The first publication inadvertently identified 14 soldiers over the course of a decade, while the second published six names in a four-year period - some of whom have risen to the highest ranks of the UK military.

The Ministry of Defence were alerted on April 23 and removed the files.

NOW GOING TO THE SOUTH POLE IS RACIST!

'COLONIAL': Scott's expedition in 1912

By COLIN HURST
colin@sundaysport.co.uk

THE ill-fated expedition to the South Pole in 1912 was RACIST – according to woke boffins.

A Cambridge University museum claims Britain's exploration of Antarctica was "colonial".

The university's Polar Museum holds personal artefacts linked to the explorers of the Heroic Age of Antarctic exploration, including Robert Falcon Scott's famed – but doomed – 1912 attempt to become the first to reach the Pole.

The museum informs visitors the daring and often fatal expeditions to the South Pole were "in the colonial mould".

Colonialism is defined as "the control of another territory, natural resources and people by a foreign group".

It is usually seen as being "racist".

But Antarctica has no human population to conquer or exploit.

Signs pointing out colonial connections were installed as part of a project aimed at "confronting Cambridge's colonial story".

The signage for an

Snow
joke!

Antarctic display at the museum reads: "The colonised Antarctic? At the beginning of the 20th century little was known about it."

"This set the stage for a number of famous expeditions to reach the South Pole."

"At the same time, these expeditions were in the colonial mould – claiming land, mapping, prospecting for resources, even sending stamps as a sign of ownership."

"The only difference was that there was not an indigenous population in Antarctica."

The Polar Museum is part of the Scott Polar Research Institute, named after the famed explorer, which is part of the university's department of geography.

The signage was installed for Cambridge's "Power and Memory" project, which addresses the university's links to colonialism, empire, and slavery.

The project was set up after white liberals around the world were sent into a panic when a black career criminal was killed during an arrest in the US in 2020.

Librarian sues over nude loon

A LIBRARIAN quit her job and is suing as she was fed up dealing with loons – including one who flopped around on the floor naked, and another who threatened to "cut off her fking toes".

Kelly Coffey, 46, said her New York Public Library horror story began after she started as a senior librarian in the young-adult sections of the Parkchester branch in November 2022.

In filed court papers Ms Coffey said one male visitor "started screaming then stripped naked".

She quit in October "because of the constant harassment she received from library patrons and the discrimination, harassment and retaliation of her supervisors", she says in the legal claim – which seeks unspecified damages.

IS BIANCA GETTING INTO KIM K'S PANTIES?

By RUSS KING

AS poor Kanye West continues his slide towards the nuthouse, there are whispers two of the most recent women in his life may be teaming up...

Fans are convinced the latest face of Kim Kardashian's undies firm Skims is Bianca Censori – the woman famous for going out with her tits clearly on show.

Social media users have taken to Twitter and TikTok with suspicions that Bianca – who despite reports of a separation is still “married” to the founder's ex-hubby, Kanye West – will collaborate with the label.

With the rapper, 47, recently on social media claiming that “they wanted to put his wife in SKIMS”, many believe a partnership is on.

One fan speculated Kim recently used a “Bianca Censori-esque” model – Tess Baldwin – seen sporting the Aussie's signature slick-back hair.

Elsewhere earlier this year, Kim herself had sparked comparisons to Bianca while rocking a nude leotard, tights, high heels and a glittery set of fairy wings in a SKIMS campaign.

One fan said: “Kim and Bianca scissoring in custard – that's the collaboration I want to see!”

Rosamund: sex's taking a backseat

ACTRESS Rosamund Pike has questioned whether the world is entering an “age of prudery” with less sex due to the impact of “wellness” culture.

In an interview on podcast The Criterion Closet, the Gone Girl and Saltburn star, 46 (above), was asked to pick her fave films.

Her first pick was I Am Curious, the 1967 Swedish erotic drama written and directed by Vilgot Sjöman that follows the story of a rebellious woman's bold exploration of her sexual identity.

Rosamund said: “My first pick is I Am Curious... because I am curious. And I'm also interested in the depiction of sex and sexuality on screen.

“I think it's very interesting, the debate, where it's taking us these days...”

“Are we entering an age of prudery? I'm interested in the way that wellness is taking over our lives and yet sex seems to be taking a backseat.”

Her comments follow multiple reports that younger generations are having less sex, with the Los Angeles Times dubbing Gen Z's lack of sexual urgency a “failure to launch”.

‘Dying’ for a bag of crisps

NOW killjoys are warning crisps and ice cream will kill you stone dead.

Thousands of people die prematurely as a result of ultra-processed foods, research shows.

The study revealed a link between the consumption of these foods and the increased risk of a premature death.

Ultra-processed foods such as ice cream, processed meats, crisps, mass-produced bread, some breakfast cereals, biscuits, and fizzy drinks, have already been linked to various health issues such as obesity, heart disease and cancer as well as early death.

The study looked into diets in Britain, Brazil, Australia, Canada, Colombia, Mexico, Chile and the US.

It then estimated the number of people who died and the links to over-reliance on UPFs.

Processed foods often contain high levels of saturated fat, salt, sugar and additives as well as containing preservatives, emulsifiers, and artificial colours and flavours – not found in home cooking.

Experts are calling on governments to issue dietary recommendations to slash how much OPFs are consumed.

Welder sliced open tranny hooker with some scissors*I WANTED TO PLAY WITH THE GUTSHELD AT AIRPORT:
Tongyung

A CHINESE man murdered a tranny in Pattaya because the crossdresser refused to have sex with him.

He then he cut open the body and removed organs because he wanted to "play" with the gore.

Cops claim Fu Tongyung, 42, admitted slaying Woranan Pannacha, a 25-year-old transwoman who was a native of Nong Khai province in Thailand.

Through a translator, he said he met Woranan near South Pattaya beach and the pair exchanged numbers.

Refund

At that time, he thought Woranan was a woman by birth.

They met at his rented room and agreed to have sex for 8,000 baht (£17).

The Chinese man said that Woranan later refused to have sex with him, so he demanded a 50 per cent refund.

As Woranan did not give the partial refund,

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

the two rowed and had a fight. Woranan scratched Fu's face and kicked him off his bed.

He then got back on the bed, sat on her body and strangled her.

He dragged her body to a toilet room, used scissors to cut open Woranan's breasts and then pulled out silicone implants.

Then he felt like he wanted to "play" with the body.

He used the scissors to cut open the body from the neck to the genitals and took out the heart, he later told police. He later washed the body and himself, went to bed, slept, woke up in the morning, reserved a flight and travelled to Suvarnabhumi airport to return to China.

He was arrested at the airport.

The Chinese man said he did not know if he was mentally ill as he had never sought help.

He said he could not control himself after the victim attacked him.

He worked as a welder in China and had paid three visits to Thailand.

Pattaya police chief Pol Col Anek Sathongyu said that the lungs of the victim were missing.

£60k racism job at 'skint' council

A COUNCIL that turned off street lights to save cash has been criticised after recruiting an anti-racism officer on a salary of up to £60,000-a-year.

Norfolk County Council, which is making £45m worth of cuts and savings to balance its budget, is seeking an "anti-racist practice lead" in its kids' services department.

In a job advert posted online, it wrote: "We want to do all we possibly can to ensure our front-line practice is culturally competent, curious and does not inadvertently or otherwise introduce prejudice or bias."

"And that our global majority staff feel respected, supported and safe from discrimination."

MUM GUILTY OVER TRAMP'S MURDER

A MUM who handed her son a gun and told him to shoot a homeless woman she'd had a row with has been found guilty of second-degree murder.

Kristina Withrow, 46, is awaiting sentencing over the fatal shooting of 36-year-old Monique Garcia, who died of gunshot wounds she received at the hands of Kristian Crespin, 20.

On April 3, 2023, Withrow saw Garcia in the walkway of her apartment building and told her to leave because she "assumed the victim was homeless," according to cops in Albuquerque, New Mexico, at the time of the shooting.

The two women got into an argument, during which time Withrow retrieved her handgun.

Withrow (left) then handed the weapon to Crespin and "told her son to shoot" Garcia.

Crespin fired three shots at Garcia, who died the next day in hospital.

The son admitted murder, conspiracy to commit murder, and tampering with evidence charges in April 2024 and was caged for 18 years.

Gem's on way back to jungle

GEMMA Collins is set to give I'm a Celebrity another go, after her first appearance lasted just 72 hours before she quit the jungle. The TOWIE star, 44 (above), headed Down Under in 2014, but only lasted for three days before jetting back to the UK. However, she could be making a comeback for the ITV show's All Stars series filmed in South Africa. Gemma is the top of the wish list for the new series and bosses have already begun initial talks with her. A source said: "Gemma hated it first time round but she knows it would be TV gold for her fans if she gave it another go. "The discussions could go either way but signing her would be a huge win for execs." During her first appearance, Gemma was seen complaining at a lack of food and basic camp facilities.

FANCY AN ADDER ONE?

A WOMAN dining with her hubby was shocked when a snake fell from the ceiling and landed in her drink at Patron Mexican Restaurant in Sandston, Virginia.

Celebrating Denim Day...

SEXY? IT'S ALL IN THE JEANS!

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

DENIM Day has quite a serious point...

The tough material is worn to highlight violence against women. But it is also a great excuse to wear the famous fabric.

It was first produced in Nîmes, France – hence the name – de Nîmes.

Denim has been used in the United States since the mid-19th century.

It gained popularity in 1873 when Jacob W. Davis, a tailor from Nevada, manufactured the first ever pair of rivet-reinforced denim pants.

However, the popularity of denim jeans outstripped the capacity of Davis's small shop, so he moved his production over to the facilities of dry goods wholesaler Levi Strauss & Co, which had been supplying Davis with bolts of denim fabric.

Here are some babes celebrating denim...

#MY SEX FANTASY

'I have huge boobs in my face as I orgasm!'

...WITH
NIKITA VALENTIN,

BRIGHTON

I HAVE a fantasy about being taken in hand by a pack of nymphomaniac lesbians!

They'd all be proper fit and really feminine.

A mixture of all types of girls – from blonde to brunette, skinny to curvy, big boobs, small boobs, butter wouldn't melt kinds to filthy minxes.

A buffet of hot women to feast on!

This orgy would take place at a grand country manor on the middle of a huge circular bed made out of velvet.

It's ultra glam, like something out of a movie. I know some high class sex parties hire out posh venues.

I'd get passed round all the rampant women as they all took turns to sensually kiss me and explore my body with their hands and tongue.

I'm at the centre of all the attention... it's my fantasy, so why not!

I'd lose track of how many were touching me. Everyone is super horny and I'm mesmerised by all the tits and sweet pussy around me.

We all moan in pleasure and the intensity increases until we are all in a bit of a frenzy. Most of us all climax at the same time. I have the biggest boobs in my face as I orgasm.

I've no idea why I'm completely straight – but this is all I think about right now when I come!

Mum gave kids booze jelly shots

A MUM was arrested after she served kids jelly laced with alcohol.

Cops in the town of Tyler, Texas, held mum Teresa Isabel Bernal, 33 (above), over her intoxicating treats – which she said were handed out by accident.

Bernal said she bought the jelly shots for her daughter's primary school Xmas party last December from a confectioner she found on Facebook.

And she told cops she thought they contained no alcohol.

Fifteen kids ate the colourful shots, which had been arranged on a table alongside more innocent treats.

Puked

Almost all the kids later reported having stomach aches and headaches, while one child couldn't stay on his feet, another puked, and a third passed out.

Bernal said she thought the shots "do taste different" but that she only realised they contained alcohol after the tots had taken them.

Bernal was released from a local jail after posting bail.

She has now been banned from entering school grounds, the school district said.

Dog breath position is mutt's nuts

A FIRM is advertising the worst job in the world – smelling dog breath.

Manhattan-based mutt wellness brand Spot & Tango is after an intern to help "evaluate" dog breath as it researches how well its new pooch "dental solution" works.

"Help us make NYC smell better, one dog at a time," the listing for the job says, posted on startup and tech site Built in NYC.

Requirements include "a nose that can detect even the faintest hint of funk," to help them "take canine oral hygiene to the next level".

Spot & Tango was founded in 2017 by Russell Breuer as a direct-to-consumer firm focused on fresh, healthy and sustainable dog food.

A refined schnoz that allows you to "detect your roommate's leftover garlic pasta even when the fridge is closed" could get applicants to the front of the line, the ad suggests.

The perfect candidate needs to be "brave, bold, and nosy (literally) to get up close and personal with NYC's canines".

And it touts one of its best perks as "unlimited dog cuddles".

Twins tell of troubles after living at Playboy mansion

WE THOUGHT WE'D END UP DEAD LIKE TRAGIC ANNA NICOLE

PLAYMATES: Twins with Hugh Hefner (above)

THEN: Twins and (right) Anna Nicole

NOW: Twins Karissa and Kristina

STUNNING former Playboy playmates Karissa and Kristina Shannon feared they'd end up dead – like tragic Anna Nicole Smith.

The twins moved into sex pest Hugh Hefner's infamous Playboy mansion in 2008 – aged just 19 – and began an 18-month relationship with Hef, who dropped dead in 2017.

They have now detailed how they endured "trauma" inside the mansion and how their lives spiralled out of control after they left in 2010.

They struggled with weight gain, pills and alcohol, and in 2014 were involved in a car crash which resulted in Kristina being cited for drink driving.

Kristina said: "Everyone was saying we were going through our 'Anna Nicole phase'. We gained weight. There was alcohol

By SUZIE SHELTON

and pills. We were unhealthy and lost and, even at points, suicidal. "We had no one. It was just us, trying to figure it out after losing ourselves."

Anna Nicole Smith, who had also been a former Playmate, died at the age of 39 in 2007 and her cause of death was later revealed to have been caused by combined drug intoxication.

Karissa and Kristina had been fans of the E! News reality show Girls Next Door before their life as playmates, but Kristina said: "What they show on TV and on the show was a 100 per cent different from what was going on behind the scenes."

Karissa added: "It was such a culture shock for us."

Kristina said there had been tension between the twins as well as the other girls, adding: "We got a lot of jealousy from the other Playmates because we were twins."

"We were the first twins to each get our own months, which made history. We were the youngest Playmates and the youngest girlfriends."

Since the twins were still only teenagers at the time of moving into Hef's mansion, the others could go out and party – which they couldn't do.

Karissa claimed the jealousy from the others stemmed from Hugh giving them more "special attention".

She said: "He would want to get in the middle of the twins to take a picture. Or he would be like, 'Can you move the twins toward the front of the table? I want to sit next to them.' Other girls started getting jealous."

The twins moved away from LA to settle in Michigan.

JUSTIN DUNN RANTS!

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Just stop oil loons are calling this 'winning'

MARATHON PROTEST: Youth Demand pair in London on Sunday

THE Just Stop Oil twats said they were finally calling it a day last week – as their mission was accomplished.

The Government's decision to call a halt to any new licenses for gas and oil exploration in the North Sea was a JSO triumph, they claimed.

Meaning they had "won".

At the exact same time they were speaking, ships the length of Eurostar trains were leaving the Far East.

All of them loaded up with Japanese coal – about 55 million tonnes of the stuff loaded onto every vessel.

Dirty

That is now being shipped in those dirty diesel-powered carriers from Japan to end up in Scunthorpe – just so that we can continue to make not-quite-British steel.

We could be using our own coal, of course, which we still have plenty of underground all over the UK.

But woke stopped all that.

So now we have the sheer madness of importing coal thousands of miles – which is not eco-friendly in the slightest.

And no doubt leaving diesel trails behind the hulking ocean fleet for turtles to use as face moisturiser, once they've managed to wrestle those pesky plastic six-pack rings from their necks.

That is what JSO "won".

Never mind, you might have thought. At least they can all finally shut up and stop glueing themselves to roads or chucking stuff onto snooker tables.

But that was Saturday.

Powder

On Sunday, the JSO offshoot, Youth Demand, was chucking pink chalk powder over runners at the London Marathon.

Demanding, yawn: "Stop Arming Israel!"

Now, I don't know how many UK arms industry executives watch the London Marathon.

But I suspect it's rather less than the 56,000 runners taking part in the race, along with the thousands more who lined the route to cheer them on, or the millions watching on TV.

A huge number of the runners were putting in the paces for the gruelling 26.2-mile trek in aid of their chosen charities.

Two men certainly were.

David Stancombe and Sergio Aguiar are the fathers of Elsie Dot Stancombe, seven, and Alice da Silva Aguiar, nine, whose names you may remember.

Both girls were among those who were murdered and injured in the Southport stabbing atrocity last year. You know, the one we're still not really allowed to talk about.

But their grief – and their sheer determination to raise money for youth projects in memory of their slain daughters – didn't matter a jot to Youth Demand.

Changed

Having taken off their orange JSO T-shirts on Saturday, they changed into Stop Arming Israel tops for Sunday's event.

All they'd done was change the colour of their chalk powder.

Their out-and-out twattery, however, clearly remains the same.

The two dickheads were quickly apprehended and held on suspicion of causing a public nuisance.

"Suspicion" of public nuisance? Do the cops not have TV sets?!

Or only computer screens to catch out hurty words on social media?

Let's see if either of them receives any jail time at all.

Doubtful, though, isn't it?

The bright side, however, is because of this endless kow-towing to all things woke, Labour are going to get absolutely clusterfked in the local elections on Thursday.

Woke, winter fuel payments, huge tax rises, mysterious black holes, free suits, free concert tickets, mobile phone fraud, not being an economist, not being a solicitor, Ed Fking Miliband, you name it...

So, get out there to the polling booth and do your worst.

Cruisin' for a bruise doesn't even come close...

NAT'S BACK AND READY FOR YOU!

By JO ALLEN news@sundaysport.co.uk

SHE was one of the BIGGEST glamour modelling sensations of the 1980s and Nineties...

And now Natalie Jay is back with a BANG!

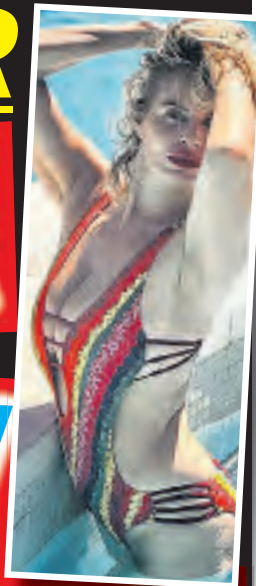

Aged 50, Natalie is bursting back onto the glamour scene after setting up her own Fanvue page.

She explained: "I thought, 'Why not?' and reading about Fanvue it seemed like the ideal platform for me to return to modelling."

Natalie hopes her page will be popular with her old fans and draw a new generation of admirers.

She explained: "There are probably 18 and 19-year-old lads out there whose dads used to look at my boobs in Sunday Sport back in the day."

"It's amazing to think I can still be modelling full-frontal."

Teens nicked for beatings in woodland

TWO 18-year-old girls stand accused of "mob action" for dragging women into the woods where they beat them up – for no reason.

Hayley Ditzler and Olivia Brown pulled one victim into the woods on April 18 and repeatedly punched and kicked her in the face, mouth, stomach, arms and legs.

Police have not yet given a motive for the alleged attacks, which took place in Madison County and St Clair County – both in Illinois, Missouri.

While Brown (above) and Ditzler (below) only face charges in one attack, other women have also come forward to accuse the pair of attacking them.

Victim Evelyn Berentz said the pair took her out to the woods and beat her up.

They reportedly filmed the ordeal and posted it online.

Evelyn reposted the video of her attack on Facebook, in which she begged her attackers to stop. She suffered scrapes and bruises, but was thankful it wasn't worse.

She said: "I know that if I hadn't have screamed or fought back they would have killed me."

Nude flyer's 'plop rage'

AN AIRLINE passenger stripped naked and then shat on her own seat as the plane landed.

Police officers were called to Chicago's Midway Airport as Southwest Airlines flight 418 from Philadelphia arrived, after the woman shocked the cabin crew by taking off her clothes and emptying her bowels.

Southwest said in a statement: "Our teams are reaching out to those onboard to apologise for the situation and any delay to their travel."

"Nothing is more important to Southwest than the safety of our customers and employees, and we appreciate the professionalism of our flight crew."

It wasn't clear what happened to the unnamed female passenger.

The plane was later taken out of service for deep cleaning.

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a 23-year-old blonde and I met the man of my dreams while I was out clubbing with my pals a few weeks ago.

He's a real hunk in his late 20s with a great physique from his regular workouts at the gym.

But I found out that not only does he still live at home with his mum but he's a trainspotter and likes to spend his weekends taking pictures of old steam engines!

I managed to persuade him to stay over at my place, where I discovered he has a penis to match the rest of his great body.

It's a good, solid nine inches but the problem is that he's not got much idea how to make the best use of it.

I've given him a few pointers, but when it comes to getting his long loco into my love shed he's a bit clumsy and arrives too soon.

Should I blow the whistle on our relationship?

JM, Cumbria

Ashleigh says...

GIVE him regular sex and he'll soon get on track.

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been married for 15 years and I've always fancied trying out a cucumber or carrot on the missus, to spice things up.

And I was inspired when I heard a programme on the radio about corn on the cob.

So the other night, while the BBQ warmed up, I produced a corn on the cob and, as the wife bent over the sink, I rubbed it in her bum crack.

Thinking it was me, she turned expectantly and was amazed when I blurted out what I wanted to do with it.

Amazingly she agreed and while she spread herself on the kitchen table, I carefully inserted it up her.

She later told me it was better than my knob – on account of its extra length, girth and knobbles.

Now I'm worried I won't be able to satisfy her. What can I do?

BW, Sussex

Ashleigh says...

TRY a courgette next time!

Three cocks are much better than my boyfriend's one!

Dear Ashleigh,

I LOVE to have sex with my randy boyfriend and two of his pals.

I'm a busty 20-year-old blonde, while my fella and his mates are in their early thirties.

I enjoy having a cock in my mouth, fanny and arse at the same time.

For our sessions, I like to dress up in stockings and suspenders and lapdance for them.

I suck them off and then they take control and fk me ragged!

Just last week, my fella and one of his mates took me up the arse at the same time – it made me climax long and hard!

Then they all spurted their love juice over my big boobs.

But the problem is my bloke says he wants us to get married and that his cock will then be the only one I'll be getting.

I'm really gutted, as I love my sex life just as it is now.

What can I do?

LH, Essex

Ashleigh says...

TELL him to wait, you're far too young for marriage.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Mr Fix-it nailing me four times a week

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a 36-year-old mum-of-two and I was devastated when my husband left me for a younger woman two years ago.

I didn't sleep for weeks and turned into a virtual recluse.

Then, around three months ago, I had a carpenter in to repair a broken cupboard in my kitchen and my life virtually changed the moment I saw him.

He was a real hunk and very friendly, we got on great.

Licking

And after he'd done the job, I found him some more work – just to keep him in the house a little longer.

When he'd finished the tasks, I made him a coffee and we sat chatting for a while.

Finally, I plucked up the courage and asked him: "Would you like to have sex before you leave?"

To my surprise – and delight – he said yes.

A couple of minutes later we were naked on my bed and I was in heaven as he went down on me, licking and sucking on my fanny for ages – until I was nearly squirting.

I then guided his length into me and I was soon near orgasm as he thrust harder and harder in and out of me.

And then I came as he shot his love juice deep inside of me.

After a few moments' rest, I couldn't wait to get his cock in my mouth and I licked and sucked him to hardness again while gently massaging his swollen balls.

Since then, my handsome joiner has been bonking me four times a week – and I'm loving every moment of it.

But the best news is that my husband's young floosie has had enough of him and thrown him out.

Do you think my life has finally changed for the better?

KB, Cornwall

Ashleigh says...

GOOD on you, girl. I'm pleased you're having the time of your life with your new man.

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been with my missus for 14 years and the sex was getting pretty boring.

But three months ago she turned into a right little raver and now likes doing it in all kinds of positions.

She even asked me to shag her up the bum, which has always been a no-no up until now.

Well, I was totally up for it and I shagged her doggy-style first before I started teasing her arsehole with my cock.

But as I was about to plunge my manhood up her butt, she told me to stop and said she wanted me to use a dildo on her.

I was amazed when she reached out to the bedside drawer and pulled out a dong about 10 inches long.

She oiled it and told me to stick it up her pussy as I shagged her arse.

But I'm gobsmacked at the change that's come over her.

Do you think we should get counselling?

VW, Leicester

Ashleigh says...

NO. Get stuck in and enjoy it.

Dear Ashleigh,

A COUPLE of weeks ago my kinky girlfriend organised a threesome for my 40th birthday with her and her fit mate.

I shagged them both and got a great gobble off her mate.

Now her friend is pestering me for a repeat performance – but just the two of us this time.

Would this be cheating?

SM, East Yorkshire

Ashleigh says...

YES – suggest another threesome.

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been boning my neighbour for the past six months. She's a busty blonde in her mid 40s and I'm 26.

We got friendly and I ended up doing her from behind on the couch.

The problem is that she now wants to move in with me.

What should I do?

PD, Norfolk

Ashleigh says...

TELL her to slow down a bit.

Sharing my sex skills helps win contracts

Dear Ashleigh,

MY amazing boyfriend likes to watch me having sex with other men – usually his fit mates from the pub football team.

I don't mind because I have a really high sex drive and I love having more than one hole filled.

Recently, I've been shagging some of his work colleagues too.

They're usually all older and in their early 40s.

Last week I even went with two fellas aged 57 and 59!

They were both still in pretty good shape and clearly went to the gym.

And they both had nice, thick cocks – something I always love inside me.

So first off I gave them both a good, long sucking – tugging one while I slurped on the other, before swapping over.

And they both took me from behind, then they watched as my fella fked me over the settee.

But I'm suspicious about my boyfriend's motives and I've told him that I think he's using me to get contracts for his firm.

But he insisted it's just about us.

I really love him – and enjoy some of the new sex partners he introduces me to.

What should I do?

FK, Lincoln

Ashleigh says...

FIND someone else – you deserve better.

JUICY Jess West has revealed she absolutely loves an all-day bonkathon!

The 34C brunette said only a sex marathon can satisfy her high nookie drive.

Jess, from Rochester in Kent, explained she feels frustrated if she doesn't get a lengthy seeling-to.

She said: "Probably the most I've ever had sex was when I was seeing a guy and we ended up bonking five times in one afternoon."

"We had a few glasses of wine and were feeling horny, so we just stayed in bed all day drinking more wine and bonking endlessly."

"On average, I probably feel horny around three times a day. I am always horny in the morning and if I'm not satisfied I'll spend all day desperate for a shag."

LENA LOVE

RETIRED bus driver Keith Saunders keeps himself ticking over by ogling boobs-out snaps of Lena Love.

Keith, 67, from Lincoln says that although he's decades older than Brighton belle Lena, it's her perky 32C norks which keep him energised.

He said: "Lena is a real cracker, she's right up my street and she's got a right fine pair."

"I drove buses for more than 40 years – but I'd happily go for one more ride with Lena!"

SAM JESSUP

THERE'S only one thing handyman Christopher Bentley wants to get busy with and that's glam legend Sam Jessup's perfect pair.

Christopher, 49, from Leyland, Lancs, is often doing work around the community but he's after one big job in Brighton, the home of 32C Sam.

He said: "Leyland is home and I love helping folk out with small jobs but I'm dying to get my hands on a bit more."

"Not only is Sam gorgeous but she's got a great rack on her and I reckon I could spend a whole week playing with her lovely pair!"

DEE IVENS

STUNNING Dee Ivens is driving Amir Hussain to distraction during his working hours.

Amir, 50, works as an IT technician but spends most of his time googling Romford's all-time great Dee Ivens.

He says he can't help staring into her gorgeous eyes, but we reckon it might be more to do with her 34D bust.

So Amir, to keep you working here's a classic corker of a pic of Dee's eyes - with her impressive chest bared too!

REDS TO WIN IT AGAIN

Anfield legend Barnes believes his old club can retain title without spending

FORMER Liverpool winger John Barnes does not believe there is a pressing need for Arne Slot to bolster his Premier League title winners with new signings.

A record-equalling 20th championship was achieved with a squad which had just one summer addition – the £10million misfit Federico Chiesa.

When Jurgen Klopp ended the club's 30-year wait for a title in 2020 he bought Diogo Jota, Kostas Tsimikas and Thiago Alcantara for a combined £73million but only the former has been a success, and a qualified one at that because of his chequered injury record.

A season-ending ACL injury to Virgil van Dijk in October, plus other injuries, left Klopp so short of centre-backs that midfielders Jordan Henderson and Fabinho ended up being paired there as the team limped to a third-place finish, 17 points off the pace.

There are no guarantees where fitness is concerned, even if Liverpool's injury record improved in Slot's first season, but Van Dijk has already spoken about a "big summer" ahead after extending his stay.

Challenge

A deal was agreed last year for Valencia's 24-year-old Georgia goalkeeper Giorgi Mamardashvili to join in July and reinforcements are expected.

However, Barnes believes the squad can challenge again even if out-of-contract right-back Trent Alexander-Arnold does make his expected move to Real Madrid.

"I'm not worried about the summer. I'm a bit old school in thinking the solution to problems is not just signing players," he told Midweek Sport.

"We have won the league comfortably so why do we need to sign players? We have kept the two most important players (Van Dijk and Mohamed Salah). If we lose Trent we've got Conor Bradley, that's fine.

"We don't need superstars, world-class players all over the pitch as we've shown. I'm not concerned about whether we sign players in the summer.

"Other people will catch us but I'd love to stand still because if we stand still we're still at the top.

"Depending on who goes, who gets injured, you may have to look at that situation. As long as we don't go backwards."

Manchester City have already begun their bid to wrestle back the title with the likes of defender Abdulkodir Khusanov and forward Omar Marmoush joining in January with more set to follow, while this season's likely runners-up Arsenal also look like investing significantly.

"Those are the teams who then need to improve. Us signing players doesn't necessarily mean we will improve so, for me, it is not a priority," added Barnes, who attended Sunday's London Marathon as part of Lucozade's Bring the Energy Zone promotion.

"Teams sometimes get worse because the players don't work out. Other teams have to take that chance because they need to improve. Do we need to take that chance?"

Regardless, it seems striker Darwin Nunez, a potential club-record signing when he arrived from Benfica nearly three years ago, will leave having struggled to improve under Slot.

Upgrade

The Uruguay international has cut a frustrated figure and has scored just seven times – and only once since his match-winning substitute cameo at Brentford in January – this season having managed just one league start since Boxing Day.

"If Nunez had been playing and we hadn't been winning (it's different) but if he's not playing then why do we need an upgrade on Nunez?" said Barnes.

"You are talking about an upgrade of someone who is on the bench to be on the bench, not to be in the team."

Arne Slot won the Premier League title without making a major signing having inherited a top-quality squad from Jurgen Klopp.

The Dutchman has been coy about his summer plans but captain Virgil van Dijk said, after signing his new two-year contract, he understood a "big summer" was planned.

Slot, whose appointment was partly based on his reputation for improving players, said earlier this month: "It would be strange for me to say now I am not happy with the team. We didn't change anything and I don't think we went downwards."

Here Midweek Sport looks at where he might need to strengthen.

GOALKEEPER

Brazilian Alisson Becker is the established number one but with Valencia's 24-year-old Georgia international gloveman Giorgi Mamardashvili arriving in July it is an area they are strong in and is likely to mean the departure of Caoimhin Kelleher, who kept four clean sheets in his 10 league appearances this season. Chelsea are said to be keen on the Irishman.

DEFENCE

The out-of-contract Trent Alexander-Arnold's future still appears to lie with Real Madrid and although 21-year-old Conor Bradley has been an able deputy a more senior option may be needed. Central defence requires attention with another serious injury for Joe Gomez and Jarell Quansah still relatively inexperienced.

Neither left-back Andy Robertson or Kostas Tsimikas have had good seasons and the latter seems most likely to leave.

Linked with: Jeremie Frimpong (Bayer Leverkusen), Milos Kerkez and Dean Huijsen (Bournemouth).

MIDFIELD

Klopp's final revamp saw an overhaul of midfield so only minor attention is required for next season.

Ryan Gravenberch has excelled in a new number six role but he needs support so he can be rested. Real Sociedad's Martin Zubimendi was targeted last summer but a return seems unlikely at this stage.

Linked with: Adam Wharton (Crystal Palace), Xavi Simons (RB Leipzig), Martin Zubimendi (Real Sociedad).

ATTACK

Darwin Nunez clearly does not fit with Slot's style and seems destined for the exit and while Diogo Jota is the preferred number nine his continuing injury problems make looking for a replacement sensible.

Linked with: Alexander Isak (Newcastle), Benjamin Sesko (RB Leipzig).

TOP TIPS FOR TODAY'S HORSERACING ACTION

Dizzy to leave his rivals in real spin

DASH HAS LOTS OF SPEED

TALENTED BRUV: Sioux Nation

DASH DIZZY can surprise some better fancied rivals in the Commonwealth Cup Trial Stakes at Ascot.

Charlie Johnston's charge is a Wootton Bassett half-brother to Group One-winning juvenile and stallion star Sioux Nation, and he certainly shaped with promise on his racecourse bow when beaten six lengths in third at Pontefract in August.

The form of that run took on a pleasing look when the winner, Powerful Glory, went on to land the Mill Reef but Dash Dizzy was handed a much easier task in winning a Kempton novice in September.

Johnston felt suitably emboldened to leap up to Group One company for the Middle Park and while Dash Dizzy was over five lengths behind Shadow Of Light in third, he was only a length and a half behind Prix Morny victor Whistlejacket.

Dash Dizzy was clearly picking up momentum at the end of the term and if he can take that level of progress into his three-year-old campaign, he could be underrated with all ground seemingly suitable for him.

The Longines Sagaro Stakes can go to Coltrane for a third successive year.

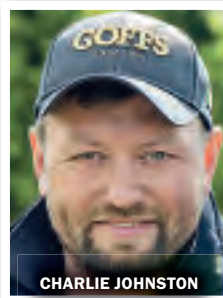

Andrew Balding's eight-year-old was an easy victor in 2023 but was made to work for his win last year, fending off Caius Chorister by a head in what proved to be the highlight of his season.

Yardstick

While not disgraced when fifth in the Gold Cup and third in the Prix du Cadran, Coltrane is a way short of star stayer Kyrios, but he should not need to be at his very best here with upwards of 10lb in hand on each of his three rivals.

Sardinian Warrior can make a seamless transition to turf and chalk up a fourth straight win in the event masters.co.uk Paradise Stakes.

Beaten at the first attempt in 2023, the Saxon Warrior colt has not looked back since, winning three times at Southwell, most recently when beating a fine yardstick in Silver Sword, with subsequent All-Weather Championships Mile winner Storm Star back in third.

CHARLIE JOHNSTON

The Gosden-trained runner has a bit to find on the ratings with the likes of Docklands but will he might be short of the top level, this Listed heat should be a good test.

Partisan Hero is the pick as he makes a quick return to Pontefract for the Nars Supports The NHC Handicap.

He has gone up a total of 10lb since December after winning his last two starts, on the Kempton all weather and then at this course at the start of April.

Partisan Hero made all for a length-and-a-quarter victory on that occasion and perhaps still had a shade in hand at the line.

At Punchestown, Galopin Des Champs can atone for his Cheltenham defeat in the Ladbrokes Punchestown Gold Cup while Honesty Policy can get the better of Festival victor Jasmin De Vaux in the Channor Real Estate Group Novice Hurdle.

SKIPPER: Sciver-Brunt

Nat takes reigns as Knight moves on

ASSES' CRICKET

NAT Sciver-Brunt has been appointed England captain, leading the side into a new era alongside head coach Charlotte Edwards.

Sciver-Brunt was the instant favourite to pick up the baton from long-serving skipper Heather Knight, having served as vice-captain, and her appointment marks the first major decision of Edwards' reign.

The all-rounder was the heartbeat of the team throughout Knight's nine-year stint but must now find a way to lift the side after a difficult period that included a poor showing at last year's T20 World Cup and Ashes humiliation in Australia.

Sciver-Brunt was in the role for a disappointing exit in the bronze-medal match at the 2022 Commonwealth Games and took a mental-health break from the game.

Although not widely considered a natural on-field leader, she has the experience, know-how and international pedigree to make her Edwards' first choice.

Sciver-Brunt, who is currently on maternity leave following the birth of her first child with former England teammate Katherine, said: "I'm really proud to take on the role of captain of the England Women's team and it's an honour to have been asked by Charlotte, someone I've always looked up to."

"Ever since I made my England debut back in 2013, all I have wanted to do is help the team in every way that I can. I will try my best to lead this team to success, whilst empowering them to be the best version of themselves."

"We have a really talented group, and we have a group that's united. It's a team I believe in and a team that can have a lot of success together."

Sciver-Brunt's reign begins on May 21 at the beginning of a two-format white-ball home series against the West Indies, and continues with the visit of India for five T20s and three ODIs.

England have yet to name a vice-captain, the position Sciver-Brunt previously filled, but Sophie Ecclestone, Charlie Dean and Amy Jones are in the frame.

DUBOIS KHAN WIND UP USYK

AMIR Khan believes Daniel Dubois should keep winding up Oleksandr Usyk to realise his dream of becoming undisputed world heavyweight champion.

Dubois has the opportunity to add Usyk's WBA (Super), WBO and WBC belts to his own IBF crown at Wembley Stadium on July 19.

The pair faced off at England's national stadium on Monday when Dubois shoved Usyk in the chest, leading the Ukrainian to suggest that it was a sign of "weakness" on the part of the 27-year-old Briton.

But former unified light-welterweight world champion Khan said: "People know when there's a push or a pull, there'll always be a little bit of hype behind it."

"It's good promotion for the fight. But I think Dubois needs to do more of that to get his personality across and for people to recognise him a little bit."

"Normally he is a quiet guy but it's good to show that confidence. He's not the young kid they think he is."

"He's a man and he tried to show them, 'Look, I'm ready for this. I'm confident as well'."

Usyk, 38, is undefeated in 23 fights and beat Dubois with a controversial ninth-round stoppage in Poland in August 2023.

Dubois knocked down Usyk in the fifth round but referee Luis Pabon ruled it a low blow, allowing him a lengthy recovery period. The Londoner's promoter Frank Warren lost an appeal to the WBA for the bout to be called a no-contest.

"That body-shot hurt, and it wasn't low, in my opinion," Khan said. "I feel he didn't get the decision, with Usyk being the champion and Dubois not being the biggest name in that fight."

"Now with a bit of hype behind him after beating (Anthony) Joshua, putting bums on seats, and being a bigger name, if that happened now they'd think twice about it."

"Usyk's been in a lot of wars and Dubois is still a fresh chicken - he's the younger, hungrier fighter."

"Credit to Usyk, he's had hard, hard fights and taking big shots from heavyweights takes a lot out of you."

"He's been in a lot of wars, and you don't know if you're going to be the same fighter again. It can hit you overnight."

Khan has relaunched his AK Promotions company to link up with Legacy Promotions to take big-time boxing to Africa.

Former world title challenger Andrew Tabiti will face home favourite Jacob Dickson on a DAZN televised bill in Ghana on July 13, with Londoner Ohara Davies, the former WBA and WBC International light-welterweight champion, also in action.

Race for top five in final furlong

WHO WILL GRAB LAST SPOT?

By ANDY MILLOM

THE race for Champions League qualification has an intriguing added dimension this season with the Premier League having been granted a fifth place.

With Arsenal having reached the last four in Europe's premier club competition and Manchester United and Tottenham among the Europa League semi-finalists, as many as seven English clubs could rub shoulders with the continent's elite in 2025-26.

Here, Midweek Sport takes a look at the battle for fifth place and what it might take to claim the lucrative prize of a Champions League place for next season it would secure.

AS IT STANDS

Chelsea are currently the team in possession on 60 points with four games remaining.

The Blues, who finished fifth with 65 points in 1999-00 and again with 70 in 2017-18, are a point worse off than Manchester City in fourth and two behind third-placed Newcastle, although they are ahead of Nottingham Forest – who have a game in hand – only on goal difference with Aston Villa three points adrift.

WORK TO BE DONE

On five occasions, 60 points would have been enough to clinch fifth place in a 38-game season – Leeds in 1997-98 (59), West Ham a season later (57), Newcastle in 2003-04 (56), Liverpool in the next campaign (58) and Tottenham in 2006-07 (60).

No side has claimed fifth spot in the Premier League era with fewer than Newcastle's tally, but Arsenal collected a record high of 75 in 2016-17.

MIND THE GAP

Liverpool may have won the title at something of a canter this season, but the scramble behind them is eye-wateringly tight.

Second-placed Arsenal head into the final straight 15 points behind the champions, but only five clear of the Magpies, while just two points separate Eddie Howe's men in third from Forest in sixth.

The gap between first and fifth currently amounts to 22 points, well below the 37-point advantage Chelsea (95) enjoyed over the Reds (58) in 2004-05, one which was replicated by Liverpool (99) and Leicester (62) in 2019-20.

By contrast, fifth-placed Aston Villa (61), finished just 14 points behind champions Manchester United in 1996-97, as did Ipswich (66) four years later, and Everton (72) matched that feat in 2013-14 when Manchester City triumphed.

SIXTH SENSE

Holding off the chasing pack could be the challenge this time around, and on two occasions since the inaugural Premier League campaign in 1992-93, goal difference alone has separated the teams finishing in fifth and sixth places. That happened in consecutive seasons in 2003-04 and 2004-05, when first Newcastle edged out Villa on 56 points and then Liverpool got the better of Bolton with both having collected 58.

No club has enjoyed a more comfortable margin than Arsenal in 2021-22, when they amassed 11 more points than sixth-placed Manchester United (58).

NOTTINGHAM Forest boss Nuno Espirito Santo says the remaining five games of his side's Premier League campaign are the "biggest of our careers".

Forest are reaching the climax of an impressive season where they have been the surprise package at the top end of the table.

They are within touching distance of Champions League qualification and know they will be playing in Europe's premier competition next season if they win their remaining games.

The first of those is against Brentford at the City Ground on Thursday night, as Forest play their game in hand from the weekend when they were in FA Cup semi-final action, losing to Manchester City.

"All the games are going to be very, very important for a lot of teams in this fight, we have one more, let's try to perform well," the Portuguese said.

"We are back in the City Ground in front of our fans, it's a big help.

"We have never stopped believing, no matter what happens. Throughout the competition, we have had good moments and bad moments and we have been able to react and again it is up to us to react again.

"All the games are the biggest games of our career, this is how we approach it.

"We are only thinking about Brentford now, that is the only think we have to consider now in our minds, is to compete against them. It's in our hands, that's a big advantage."

Forest welcome back Neco Williams and Ryan Yates after they were suspended at Wembley, while Nuno says he is still assessing his squad and was coy on Ola Aina's fitness. "There are a lot of players to assess, it was a very demanding game, a lot of players finished with cramp, so we will see," the Portuguese said.

On Aina, he added: "We still have one more day, assessing all the players, trying to make the decisions."

"All the players who have been out are important to us. We have spoken many times about that.

"We have been missing Ola, because of the stability of the back four we had.

"I don't know how many times we had the same players – that's crucial, especially in defence."

SOAKED: Leeds boss Farke gets toasted in champers after securing a Premier League spot

Leeds manager Farke fine with sack talk

By JOHN ANTHONY

LEEDS head coach Daniel Farke said “no-one has to worry about me” as speculation over his future continued after his side close in on the Championship title.

Goals from Ao Tanaka, Willy Gnonto and substitute Largie Ramazani's late double swept the Whites to a 4-0 win against play-off chasing Bristol City in their final home game of the season.

Leeds regained top spot on goal difference ahead of Burnley, who were also promoted last week.

Happy

But the Elland Road hierarchy have refused to comment on reports they could replace Farke in the summer, while club chairman Paraag Marathe pulled out of a scheduled interview with Sky Sports on Monday night.

When asked if he needed reassurances from Leeds' owners, Farke said: “I’m a very, very happy man, so no-one has to be worried about me. I spoke at Friday’s press conference and have said everything I have to say. I’m just enjoying this moment, what we’ve done over the last two years.”

Leeds followed up last week’s 6-0 thrashing of Stoke with another relentless attacking display in a carnival atmosphere against Bristol City and Farke’s side remain intent on sealing the title with victory at Plymouth on Saturday.

The Whites’ players and backroom staff came back on to the pitch after the final whistle to celebrate with their fans, who were denied the chance to share in their club’s previous top-flight promotion in 2020 due to Covid.

“Today before the game it was not easy to stay focused. I was quite emotional I have to say,” Farke added.

“I’m used to an unbelievable atmosphere at Elland Road but in this moment, when you walk in and you hear this noise and sense how much it means to the people. It was very, very special.

“No disrespect to my former clubs but this atmosphere was second to none. Before and during the game there were emotional moments, but at least the players stayed focused. I’m a very proud manager of my boys. We were so motivated to finish the season in style. We wanted to finish the final home game with a top performance and a top result. “We are a bit greedy to be honest. We want to extend the points tally, extend the amount of goals.”

Bristol City’s top-six hopes were dealt another blow as they slipped to back-to-back defeats – they had one shot on target against Leeds – but will secure a play-off place for the first time since 2008 on Saturday if they beat Preston at home.

Hurt

Boss Liam Manning said: “(Leeds) are the best team in the division for me – huge club, huge investment, top players.”

“There’s no shame in coming here and losing. It’s more the manner in how you do it and we weren’t at the level we can hit.

“We have to hurt tonight and we can’t just move on, because of the manner of the goals, but we have to wake up tomorrow, stick together and get ready for Saturday.”

Rashford kicked last ball for Villa

ASTON Villa forward Marcus Rashford is expected to be ruled out for the rest of the season due to a hamstring injury.

Rashford was left out of Unai Emery’s squad for Saturday’s FA Cup semi-final defeat to Palace, with the manager saying afterwards that the player, who joined Villa on loan for the rest of the campaign from Manchester United in the January transfer window, was likely out for “some weeks”.

Villa only have four Premier League matches to play this term as they switch their focus to the fight for a place in Europe in 2025-26.

Rashford is not permitted to play against his parent club on the final day of the season, meaning the last game he would be eligible for would be against Tottenham on May 18.

Emery said: “We are going to try to test him each match, but he’s injured and some weeks he is not available.”

The 27-year-old England international, who has three years left on his United deal, is due to return to Old Trafford, with Villa pondering whether to trigger a £40million buy option.

He has made 17 appearances for Villa, scoring four times and providing six assists.

AUL TO PLAY FOR IN DERBY

CALLUM McGregor knows Celtic could win the treble but still face criticism for their season if they suffer a third consecutive defeat against Rangers.

The champions are 17 points clear in the Premiership after clinching their fourth consecutive title with a 5-0 win at Dundee United on Saturday.

They beat Rangers in the Premier Sports Cup final and will clinch a sixth treble in nine seasons if they win against Aberdeen in the Scottish Cup final.

But Rangers have won the last two derbies, scoring six goals in the process, and McGregor knows questions will be asked if they do not get a result at Ibrox on Sunday.

"That's the nature of football in Glasgow," the midfielder said. "You can only have one team that's doing well. We could finish the season with three trophies and if we lose the game on Sunday, then people will interpret it as being a bad season."

Newcastle lead race to sign Guehi

NEWCASTLE are trying to strike first in the race to sign Marc Guehi.

A host of clubs are interested in the Crystal Palace and England central defender this summer.

Tottenham have long been admirers, Liverpool are interested and his former club Chelsea would also like him back.

Manchester City are also being mentioned as Pep Guardiola tries to rebuild his team.

But the Toon are thought to be leading the hunt for the 24-year-old who looks set to leave Selhurst Park for a Champions League team.

Liverpool would not be able to guarantee him a regular start with Virgil Van Dijk signing a new deal and Ibrahima Konate first choice.

Tottenham need to win the Europa League to get into the Champions but both City and the Toon look set for a top-five finish. Newcastle bid £70m for Guehi last summer but Palace wanted to keep their man.

A similar offer could get the deal done this time with his contract due to run out at the end of next season.

Palace won't want to run the risk of him walking out on a free transfer when his deal is finished.
